

Program: THEOLOGY AND RELIGIOUS SCIENCES

Level: Master of Arts

Time to completion: Min. 18 and max. 30 mo.

Program's Description and Purpose: This is a graduate program designed to provide advanced study of Christian theology, biblical interpretation, religious thought, ethics, spirituality, and the role of religion in contemporary society. The program is firmly grounded in the Christian faith and approaches the study of religion through a biblical and Christ-centered worldview, while engaging respectfully and critically with diverse religious traditions and contemporary intellectual perspectives. Students develop advanced skills in theological reflection, scholarly research, critical analysis, ethical reasoning, and the integration of faith and knowledge. The program seeks to prepare graduates to serve effectively in educational, ecclesial, ministry, nonprofit, community, and other contexts in which theological knowledge, Christian wisdom, ethical leadership, and informed engagement with religious and cultural questions are required.
